State of the art dentistry

By Mel Fabrikant Monday, January 29 2007, 11:57 AM EST Views: 1,835

Dr. Ari dubov , DDS

We contacted Ari dubov, DDS and arranged to have a meeting. Someone who is that computer savvy, just had to be up to date on dental technology. We weren't disappointed! His office, newly remodeled and still being brought up to date is just that .. state of the art.

Located at 27 Madison Avenue, Suite 110, Lorraine, the ever-smiling receptionist, greeted me as I walked in the door. Told me that the doctor was expecting, actually looking forward to the meeting and would be with me shortly. She offered a seat in one of their comfortable waiting room chairs. Sure enough, a smiling gentleman in a white robe came out, greeted me and escorted me into his private office. I had met Dr. Ari dubov, DDS!

Did you ever wonder why someone wants to become a dentist, or for that matter, settle in Paramus? I did! I questioned this 34 year old and learned that since the age of 5, he had made his choice. He used to go to his dentist aunt's office and make believe he was a real dentist. He became one! He became one after four years of under class study, four years of dental school and one year of residency. He liked the town of Paramus and decided to locate there.

In his office, he offers all kinds of dentistry to all ages among them: implants, root canal, crowns, dentures, veneers and bleaching, Invisalign tooth straightening, and a variety of other cosmetic procedures. . . He and his staff can handle all kinds of emergency and regular dentistry. To help ease the patient's time on the chair, he has a TV installed for their comfort and has an electric drill (as opposed to pneumatic) that is almost noiseless. Digital x-rays require less radiation so this state of the art dentist uses it!

Milena, Ari's wife is a financial analyst with Con Ed and he proudly talks about 2 year old Isabel and 7 months old Ethan. In addition to a growing practice, he has the pleasure of a growing family.
